The Lover

New Orleans Style Dinner

Saturday, February 25

5:00 PM

Dabney Lounge
& Gardens

1870s New Orleans. Mardi Gras. Three women: the first to be married to a rich Spanish noble, the second destined to live out her life in confinement, the third the most famous courtesan in the South. A Colonel, his Lieutenant, a sailor, and a carpetbagger in town looking for love, danger, and romance. Witness what happens when these women push beyond social boundaries in search of fulfillment in a clash of honor & morals! Live Cajun Creole music! Gun fights and swordplay with a cast of forty!

Please join TACIT director Brian Brophy and guest speaker Sandya Narayanswami for a New Orleans Style Dinner in support of the Caltech Players on Saturday, February 25, at 5:00 PM in Dabney Lounge. Tickets include dinner, a pre-show discussion, and admission to the show. You may purchase tickets online <http://www.brownpapertickets.com/event/225352> or contact Performing & Visual Arts at 626-395-3295.

Your generous support will promote live theater and film on campus so that we may offer students social and interactive cultural opportunities for greater self-expression that will, ultimately, refine and expand the imaginations of our future scientists.
